San Sara Coffee

San Sara is a blend of Honduran and Sumatran coffee beans. From two of the greatest coffee growing regions of the world, high quality Central American and South Pacific coffee beans are brought together for a great blend of aromatic coffee.

But that isn't the whole story.

miko-nene.com sources San Sara coffee from an Ethical Direct Supplier. The supplier pays a 20% premium over the market price, with the money going directly back to the farmers, funding projects of their choice – such as education, infrastructure and constantly improving the quality of the coffee. None of the extra money is spent on administration and no extra cost is passed on to our customers.

The coffee is produced within the guidelines of the Ethical Trading Initiative (ETI) ensuring the working conditions of our coffee farmers meet or exceed international standards.
